Revenue Sharing

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The first step in the solution of crime in the cities is federal revenue sharing, Richard E. Starr, director of housing development for Chicago said here Friday.

Starr spoke before some 300 students and Texas law enforcement officials at the seventh interagency workshop at Sam Houston State University.

Starr said the approach to solving city problems during the 1960s was housing. During the '60s, it was education, he said, and now it appears to be employment.

However, instead of concentrating for a short time on an isolated area, there must be involvement in all areas with police included in planning, he said.

Revenue sharing is needed, Starr believes because of the flight of the more affluent to the suburbs, leaving inner-cities with all the problems and no funds.

"The Newark and Cleveland budgets are balanced for next year only because they are including funds from some kind of federal revenue sharing," said Starr. "If that does not pass next year, we will have cities that are bankrupt."

Great Lake Pollution

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A harbor pollution control program designed to serve as a guide for all Great Lakes ports officially began in Duluth Friday.

Dr. Leon W. Weinberger, president of Environmental Quality Systems, Inc., a Washington, D.C., consulting firm, said the program "will have a direct bearing on all ports on the Great Lakes and in the St. Lawrence Seaway."

Technical data already is being compiled and Weinberger said there is a possibility construction of waste elimination systems can begin within two years.

The study by Environmental Quality Systems will lead to construction of a demonstration waste collection and treatment facility which will cost an estimated $1 million.

The Duluth harbor, Weinberger said, is not an isolated situation. While other ports would not necessarily request identical solutions, he said, the Duluth project "is really the first effort to come up with an integrated system to deal with all the problems."

The first phase of the project is financed by a $52,300 grant from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and an equal amount from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Identification of pollution sources associated with vessel operations in the harbor is a primary goal of the study. The first phase, to be completed within three months, will concentrate on developing solutions to deal with significant pollution problems, Weinberger said.

The second phase will consist of design and evaluation of equipment and systems leading to the final phase—actual construction and operation of waste disposal facilities.

Ulster Crossroads

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland is at a crossroads. A fledgling Roman Catholic peace movement is gathering steam. So is a growing Protestant backlash.

Britain's minister for Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, is on the spot. He must achieve a delicate balancing act against time. But not since 1969 has summer approached with as much hope for peace, however feeble.

Many qualified observers feel that peace moves begun by middle-road Catholics are too little and too late to assuage the anger of the majority Protestant community.

Sickened by bomb and bullet attacks on people, businesses and institutions, disgusted by British peace initiatives which to them appear a surrender to terrorism, the Protestants are becoming increasingly militant.

If Whitelaw goes too far to meet the Catholics, he risks a Protestant revolt. Not far enough and Catholic desertions from the Irish Republican Army could easily be reversed.

Violence started in 1969 with a Catholic campaign for equal rights in jobs, votes and housing. British troops quelled widespread sectarian rioting. IRA gunmen, fighting for the unification of the province with the mainly Catholic Irish Republic, moved in.

More than 350 people have died violently amid millions of dollars in damage. Hardly a street in downtown Belfast lacks the scars of a bomb. Londonderry has been so shattered by explosions that to many it resembles a central European city after World War II.

Napalm Aftermath

TRANG BANG, Vietnam (AP) — The little boy whose mother had clutched his charred body in her arms died before Friday's dawn.

The little girl who ripped the flaming clothing off her body and ran naked away from the edge of the town, around the napalm strike was taken to a hospital in Saigon. The Associated Press photograph of the youngster appeared in newspapers across the United States.

The children were caught Thursday during fighting in this ramshackle town 28 miles northwest of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese Skyraider plane that dropped the napalm canister by mistake was within marginal limits of error, officials said. The civilians were also in the strike zone, a no man's land.

One other civilian died in the napalm bombing.

The civilians were trying to move from the eastern side of Trang Bang down Highway 1 to government lines. The North Vietnamese had dug in at the edge of the town, around the Cao Dai temple.

The napalm strike was targeted for the North Vietnamese foxholes and hit about 150 yards off course. Several other napalm strikes were right on target and indications were that North Vietnamese soldiers were killed there.

In all, 20 South Vietnamese—children, women, men and soldiers—were killed or injured by mistake.

Vietnamese officers on the scene said all efforts were made to save civilian lives and homes.

McGovern Not Given Support Muskie Calls For Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund Muskie said Friday he is not going to hand Sen. George McGovern the Democratic presidential nomination, at least until McGovern makes peace with skeptics in the party.

Conceding that McGovern probably will get the nomination anyway, Muskie said he still was not going to give the endorsement which might make it certain.

In a National Press Club speech, Muskie rejected arguments that he should swing his support to the South Dakota senator in order to blunt a "stop McGovern" movement and prevent a party split.

"Party unity is not achieved with the magic wand of the kingmaker," Muskie said. "No man can hand George McGovern a united party. And I would do him a grave disservice to pretend that I could do so."

Muskie at one time had been considered the Democratic front-runner, but after a series of primary defeats he announced he would end his campaigning in the primaries.

Speculation had mounted this week that he might drop out altogether and endorse McGovern.

Muskie said he was concerned about the new party reforms aimed at opening up the nominating process to the people and that to shut it off now would defeat the whole program.

"If reform of the Democratic party means anything, it means that the nominee of the party must be selected in an open convention," Muskie said. "The decision should not be made weeks in advance—for whatever purpose, for whatever high motivation."

But Muskie made it clear that his chief concern was that if he should put McGovern over the top now it would only stifle dissent without answering important questions about McGovern's campaign proposals—particularly welfare and tax reforms and cuts in defense spending.

"I hope that Senator McGovern will use the time which remains before the convention to draw on the wisdom and experience of those elements of the party which are not yet prepared to support his candidacy," Muskie said, "to seek their advice and counsel and to re-examine and refine his own position with respect to critical issues."

"I predict that if he does so, he will find that areas of agreement can be broadened and the differences can be narrowed," he said.

In a question and answer session after the speech Muskie was asked if he might release his 166 delegates later if McGovern succeeds in closing gaps in the party before the Miami Beach nominating convention.

"I would keep an open mind, of course," Muskie answered. "I would see developments in this pre-primary period, and that might be conceivable, provided it didn't do essential violence to the principle that I have tried to articulate here today."

Washington. In New York, an FAA spokesman said the anonymous telephone threat was made to New York City police at 4:02 p.m.

"The caller did not specify what plane, he just said the plane with McGovern on it was going to blow up," the FAA spokesman said.

McGovern's chartered United 737 took off from LaGuardia at 4:06. Meanwhile, police were finding out what plane the presidential aspirant was using.

At 4:16, police and the FAA, through the airline's facilities, notified the pilot.

It was decided that the flight to Pittsburgh, a scheduled stop, would continue.

A spokesman for United, owner of the plane, said the jet, which was due to land at Greater Pittsburgh International Airport for a fuel stop, taxied to a secluded area on arrival and McGovern and the other 30 passengers scurried down an emergency exit chute.

Another United spokesman in Chicago said the emergency chute was used because a door would not open.

Marylin Bitner, a McGovern campaign worker, said the injured were newsmen.

McGovern's office in Washington said later the appearance in Oklahoma City at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner had been cancelled and the candidate would return to

WASHINGTON: Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, acknowledges the reception he receives as he arrives at the National Press Club Friday. In a luncheon address, Muskie said he will not throw his support to Sen. George S. McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination. He said he would remain a candidate himself and hoped McGovern would work for party unity. (UPI Telephoto)

Kissinger Mending Fences With Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger, finally making it to Japan after two postponements, is starting talks with Japanese leaders Saturday in hope of mending some broken fences in relations between the United States and its major Asian ally.

The wide-roving presidential envoy will brief Japanese leaders on, among other matters, the evolution of U.S. foreign policy signaled by President Nixon's summit trips to China and the Soviet Union.

The Japanese are particularly interested in an explanation why Nixon reversed long-standing U.S. policy on China and decided on the trip to Peking without consulting his allies in Tokyo.

Another irritant in U.S.-Japan relations likely to come up in the three-day visit is trade. U.S. policies to strengthen the dollar and the Peking visit are known in the Japanese press as the "Nixon shocks," and they have strained the close ties between Washington and Tokyo.

Kissinger arrived in Tokyo late Friday night aboard a presidential plane. Security was tight at the airport, reflecting concern over reports that radical students and ultrarightists were planning anti-American demonstrations. But no protests developed.

The presidential aide, Nixon's No. 1 foreign affairs counselor, is officially the guest of the nongovernmental Japan-U.S. Economic Council. But his plans include talks with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and other major figures in the Japanese leadership.

Foreign Ministry sources said Nixon apparently wants to show by the dispatch of Kissinger that the weight of Japan in U.S. foreign policy remains unchanged despite the moves toward China and the Soviet Union.

The Japanese press reported that Kissinger will deliver to the Japanese government a letter from Nixon inviting Emperor Hirohito to visit the United States next year.

Bombing Threat Made On McGovern's Plane

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A chartered United Air Lines jet carrying U.S. Sen. George McGovern was evacuated on landing here Friday because of a bomb threat. Three persons were injured scurrying down an emergency exit chute.

The South Dakota senator, front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, was not hurt, aides said.

No bomb was found during a search of the plane.

The bomb threat, which was telephoned to New York police, was received aboard the plane as it flew from New York to Oklahoma City, where McGovern was to appear at a fund raising dinner.

Air Force officer said. The raids used far more sophisticated bombs with accuracy up to five feet than explosives dropped during President Lyndon B. Johnson's 1965-1968 campaign.

In South Vietnam, the U.S. Command said, tactical aircraft made nearly 400 strikes Thursday, including heavy bombing by B52s to support ground troops. It was a marked increase in the raids after days of bad weather.

In Washington, Pentagon sources said the number of B52s committed to the war has risen to nearly 200, almost double what it was during the 1965-68 bombing phase. The current complement represents more than half the entire combat assigned force of 390 bombers and has forced the Air Force to cut into B52 strength normally kept on alert in the United States, the sources indicated.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said waves of helicopters managed to fly into the besieged provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles from Saigon, and shuttle out wounded on Friday. It was the biggest evacuation since enemy troops cut off the town 64 days ago soon after starting their offensive into South Vietnam, officers said.

Hanoi, Haiphong Outskirts Battered By U.S. Bombings

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes battered the edges of Hanoi and Haiphong with the most concentrated bombing of North Vietnam's military heartland in more than four years, U.S. officials said Friday.

The strikes Thursday used laser-directed 2,000-and 3,000-pound bombs and were followed by saturation raids by 30 or more B52s in the southern panhandle.

Fighter-bombers struck at least 200 times, collapsing rail bridges 25 miles from China, leaving a barracks and warehouse complex near Hanoi in flames and exploding a Haiphong fuel depot, officials said.

"It was one of our most effective days over Hanoi," an SAIGON (AP) — John Paul Vann, an outspoken U.S. adviser whose career as soldier and civilian in Vietnam spanned a decade of war, was killed Friday night when his helicopter crashed in flames.

Vann, 47, was the senior U.S. adviser in the war-ravaged central highlands of South Vietnam. His light observation helicopter plummeted to earth on a night flight from Pleiku to Kontum, the U.S. Command said.

South Vietnamese ground troops and U.S. rescue helicopters reached the crash site south of Kontum just before midnight. They found Vann's body and those of his two companions, a pilot and a U.S. military passenger, the command reported.

The cause of the crash was not immediately determined, although no ground fire was reported near Kontum when the crash occurred.

Only three days earlier, Vann had predicted another attack on Kontum, the highlands provincial that has been the object of repeated North Vietnamese attacks.

Vann was reassigned to the 2nd military region in Vietnam in April. The appointment was a reversal of a decision in which he was to be assigned to a civilian post with a civilian working group.

Mariner Nine's Cameras Survive

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The critical "survival mode" past, Mariner 9 sent back the first pictures in two months Friday of distant Mars. Anxious scientists announced the tiny spacecraft's television cameras endured perfectly the worrisome period.

Chorus of "there it is" rippled through the control center at the Jet Propulsion Lab here at 10:40 a.m. PDT when the first picture appeared on television monitors showing a rugged, crater-pocked region 12,000 miles from the South Pole.

"Beautiful. That looks really good. That's good clean data," beamed assistant project manager Ted Pounder as he in- troduced the picture.

ping coffee and munching a doughnut.

But the eager scientists patiently awaited later pictures to give man his first close-up view of the puzzling Martian North Pole. The pole was obscured during spacecraft passes in the winter and spring by thick clouds. It never has been very visible to earth telescopes because the clouds cleared only when Mars was very distant.

Mariner 9 began a survival mode late in March. Twice each day it passed behind the planet out of the sun's view and had to switch from solar panel to battery power. To conserve the precious batteries, cameras and instruments were turned off.

Tragic Violence Is Evil Contagion

Following the assault on the Vatican's priceless Pieta by a hammer-wielding mental case, Italian newsmen staged a mock attack against another famous Michelangelo statue.

A reporter from the pro-Communist Rome newspaper, Paese Sera, entered the Church of St. Peter in Chains, climbed over a knee-high balustrade, and in full view of startled tourists proceeded to swing a hammer at Michelangelo's statue of Moses while a photographer recorded the pretended attack.

Their point was to show how unprotected the city's famed works of art are and how easily the fate which befell the Pieta could be repeated elsewhere.

Actually, they proved nothing, except possibly that civilized society is able to function not because there is a policeman on every corner, or in front of every statue, but only because the majority of people are decent and law-abiding and not insane.

Suppose the Pieta had always been heavily guarded. There is no assurance that this would have prevented the attack. It might only have escalated the challenge to someone determined, for whatever reasons, to destroy the masterpiece.

Even if the madman had been stopped, it is obvious that complete protection cannot be given every statue, every painting, every fresco or manuscript in every church or museum, in Italy or anywhere else. Society simply has to depend in the last resort upon the basic sanity of its citizens.

We have seen near-tragic confirmation of this fact in our own country so very recently, where presidential candidate George Wallace, guarded not only by Secret Service agents but his own Alabama troopers, was gravely wounded by a fanatic. It happened to a man who had been ever conscious of and ever alert to the possibility of an attempt on his life.

Rome, and the world, can count themselves lucky if the Pieta outrage does not inspire an imitator. There seems to be some sort of monkey see, monkey do syndrome involved in such things—or rather, lunatic see, lunatic do.

The bomb hoax perpetrated against the Queen Elizabeth 2 was followed a few days later by one against the Italian ocean liner Leonardo da Vinci. Again in our own country, the first ransom hijacking of an airliner and successful parachute escape by the criminal was quickly followed by similar attempts, despite well-publicized precautions taken by the airlines and the government.

This is not to say that all those involved in these incidents are raving maniacs. But certainly something has to be distorted and warped about their mental processes.

Nor does it mean that society is abjectly helpless at the hands of such people. Prudent preventive steps have undoubtedly deterred many would-be hijackers or bombers or assassins.

In the final analysis, however, we can only be thankful that there simply are not enough criminals or disturbed people around to disrupt civilization utterly. Their outrages and depredations remain the exception, the aberration, the departure from the norm. We need only reflect that infinitely greater harm has been done to humanity and the things it values in wars waged by supposedly rational men.

Nevertheless, the individual destroyers can cause an immense amount of trouble and sorrow and tragedy, which are things the world already has in abundant measure.

Spends $123,000 'Against' Itself

Common Cause, the "people's lobby," led all other lobbies in terms of spending, according to financial reports published in the Congressional Record covering the last three months of 1971.

As required by law, Common Cause, which is supported by donations from individuals around the country, reported spending slightly over $123,000 in the period in its efforts to influence legislation.

Other big spenders included the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A.—$96,590; the American Postal Workers Union—$73,726, and the American Farm Bureau Federation—$41,385.

It may be that Common Cause is simply more honest than some other organizations, which reported only minimal expenditures or none at all. One of its goals, in fact, is reform of the much-criticized, loophole-ridden laws governing lobbying activities.

But if money talks, the voice of the little people, which Common Cause claims to represent, is coming through loud and clear.

See Signs Blockade Slackening Enemy Fire Power

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One month after President Nixon ordered North Vietnam sealed off from outside military supplies, Defense Department officials see signs that enemy fire-power may be slackening as a result.

While acknowledging they cannot prove any cause-and-effect link, officials cite as possible indicators:

—A drop in the volume of North Vietnamese artillery shelling in South Vietnam. For example, fewer than 300 rounds hit the besieged city of An Loc one day this week. Earlier, North Vietnamese guns pumped as many as 7,800 rounds into that provincial capital in a day's time.

—A decrease in surface-to-air-missile firings. Pentagon figures indicate a steep decline in SAM firings against U.S. planes throughout North Vietnam, from 317 in one April week to 39 in a recent week.

Senior military officers also suggest the mining of North Vietnamese ports and intense bombing of railroad lines from China may have caused enough of a supply pinch to delay the long-expected climatic attack on the city of Hue. North Vietnamese attacks have been stalled elsewhere in South Vietnam in recent weeks.

U.S. experts are convinced that the North Vietnamese had to stockpile substantial amounts of ammunition and material in South Vietnam and the area just above the demilitarized zone before springing their offensive in late March.

But officials say the cutoff of any major new supply flow into North Vietnam from Russia and China, and the systematic bombing of internal North Vietnamese supply lines leading toward the fronts, may have prompted Hanoi's field commanders to conserve ammunition.

According to U.S. intelligence estimates, the movement of fresh war supplies down into the lower North Vietnamese panhandle has been slashed from about 300 tons a day early in the offensive to only 18 tons a day recently.

It was just one month ago, May 8, that Nixon announced he had concluded that "Hanoi must be denied the weapons and supplies it needs to continue the aggression" against South Vietnam. On Nixon's orders, entrances to seven North Vietnamese ports were plugged with air-dropped mines. About 25 Soviet and other communist-flag freighters and fuel tankers then bound for North Vietnam were reported to have turned away. No ships have tried to run the mine barrier since, officials say.

U.S. warships blocked coastal shipping and shelled military targets on shore. North Vietnamese rivers were mined to hamper supply-barge movements, and U.S. warplanes have sunk or damaged hundreds of such craft.

The White House sent U.S. planes on up to 280 strikes a day against North Vietnamese railroads and railroad yards, bridges, truck parks, petroleum-storage dumps, power plants, barracks, and other war-related facilities across North Vietnam, including targets close to Hanoi and Haiphong, the nation's principal port.

Using laser-guided and other "smart" bombs perfected since the 1965-1968 air campaign, U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes have severed rail connections between North Vietnam and China, and between the Hanoi-Haiphong region and the battlefields to the south.

Starting May 10, U.S. pilots put 15 key bridges out of commission and fanned out to hit dozens of other rail and highway bridges forming links in the transportation chain.

The North Vietnamese resorted to ferries and pontoon bridges to bypass the wrecked spans.

The North Vietnamese got some of the damaged bridges back into use within 10 days or so but U.S. bombers returned to knock them out again.

U.S. experts had anticipated that the Russians and Chinese would attempt to push more material into Vietnam by rail to compensate for the cutoff of about 200,000 tons a month in food, fertilizer, all-important petroleum products and war gear normally brought into North Vietnam by ship. But so far, U.S. officials report, this has not happened. Supplies are said to be backed up in south China because the rail lines into North Vietnam are effectively cut.

Defense analysts estimate the U.S. bombing-mining campaign has brought these major results:

—Imports of motor fuel and petroleum products necessary to operate North Vietnamese supply trucks, tanks, and other military-related vehicles are down to zero from 60,000 tons a month imported before the mine barrier was laid.

Meanwhile, U.S. warplanes have destroyed about 24,000 tons, 15 per cent of the petroleum-product storage capacity in North Vietnam.

—Coastal shipping is reported at zero compared with 18,000 tons a week at the beginning of the offensive.

—U.S. warplanes have destroyed or damaged more than 3,000 trucks since April 1. Without replacements, continued attrition of North Vietnam's truck force could spell future trouble in moving supplies southward.

Air Force and Navy bombers have knocked out about 72,000 kilowatts of electric power, by U.S. estimates. This represents about one-third of North Vietnam's total power capacity and could bear on the country's ability to operate its air-defense system.

U.S. analysts say they have received indications from intelligence sources that the sealing off to North Vietnam from outside supplies, including food imports, is beginning to cause hardships there.

This coincides with recent statements in Hanoi's communist party newspaper, Nhan Dan, exhorting cultivation of "every inch of land" possible to grow food crops.

North Vietnam always has been a marginal food-producing country and last year imported more than 600,000 tons of various foodstuffs, principally from Russia.

Radio Hanoi acknowledged this week that North Vietnam is having what it called "very difficult" problems because of the U.S. bombing.

Study Shows Tax 'Reform' A Myth

By BRUCE BISSAT
LOS ANGELES (NEA) — The clarion cries of protesting Americans in 1972 are said to be "distrust of government" and taxes. The surprising primary winners among Democratic presidential contenders are those men most closely identified with those cries — Sen. George McGovern and Gov. George Wallace.

In the tax field, their call is "reform," but what they are trying to convey to millions of harassed taxpayers is hope of tax relief — especially from burdensome local property taxes.

That McGovern and Wallace are being believed in their assurances is obvious from the 1972 voting results. To the extent that McGovern is perceived in California as elsewhere as "anti-politics" and "anti-government," that gave him advantage in this state's primary over chief rival Hubert Humphrey on the tax issue. (Wallace was only a write-in prospect in the June 6 voting.)

Yet, as so often with campaign issues, the tax question is being dealt with through the misleading shorthand of shouted slogans and slickly oversimplified brochures.

The Brookings Institution's full-scale study of President Nixon's proposed fiscal 1973 budget ought to make life a good deal harder for any candidate who is leading voters to believe he is going to ease their tax burdens substantially if elected president in November.

Brookings' responsible, exhaustive analysis, just released, has one overriding message in this field: The outlook is that millions of Americans will be paying more taxes — not less — in the years ahead. The arguments advanced in the study are compelling.

Tax reform, widely accepted in this country as necessary, may come, and may alter the way the burden falls on different income groups. Reform as such is a complex matter warranting a further report later on. But there seems no escape from overall higher tax loads.

Brookings notes a curious circumstance: while we have been fighting the Vietnam war, introducing vast new social programs, widening Social Security, and listening to ever more insistent demands for still more federally-financed services, several major tax cuts have been voted into law.

In the past decade, various kinds of reductions in federal personal and corporate income taxes were instituted — in 1964, 1969 and 1972. In addition, excise taxes on numerous commodities and services have been slashed $10 billion.

If the government were still taxing the 1963 income and excise tax rates, the Treasury would be pulling in some $45 billion a year more than is in prospect for fiscal 1973.

There is, of course, one big offset. Payroll taxes to pay for newly instituted Medicare and for rising Social Security outlays have gone up $18.5 billion in the decade.

Still, the idea some politicians are advancing that real tax relief is in sight seems patently absurd, if not downright misleading.

Brookings estimates the federal budget will hit $300 billion in fiscal 1975 and $335 billion in fiscal 1977. Inflation will cost $9 billion a year to cover higher federal employees' wages and higher prices for things the government buys. Built-in escalators — more and more beneficiaries for education, welfare, etc. — should hike outlays $5 billion to $6 billion yearly. Defense costs may go up, not down. Pollution fighting outlays may take $4 billion a year.

New programs? Property tax relief? Just try to find the money without imposing sizable new U.S. levies as a heavy offset.

Poem To "Other Woman"

Prompts Sketches Of Wives

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the poem from the wife to "The Other Woman" I began to think about the married couples who live in this neighborhood. Here are a few thumbnail sketches of the wives:

Bernice: Wears curlers 24 hours a day. Is a chronic complainer and gets stoned every afternoon on beer. By the time her husband comes home for dinner she is staggering around the kitchen, blind.

Marge: Visits neighbors all day and says she can't do housework except on impulse. These impulses always come at night—when her husband says he is getting ready for bed. Emily: Weighs 280 pounds. When she eats (which is all the time), she drops food on her chin and clothing. Her bosom looks like a snack tray.

Lenore: Has told all the neighbor ladies they are fools to let their husbands "use" them as substitute call girls. She says SEX IS DEGRADING unless a woman is in the mood. Her "moods" come twice a year.

I am a widow (under 40) and have been propositioned by every one of their husbands. One soft smile, one wide-eyed, listening look and I could be the Other Woman. It shouldn't be that way. Tell 'em, will you? —Huntington Station

Dear Hunt: Tell 'em what? There's nothing left to say!

Dear Ann Landers: I am divorced and my husband has remarried. I gave him custody of our 13-year-old son because I felt it would be better for an adolescent male to be with his father. I have custody of our 16-year-old daughter. She is a handful but we get along reasonably well.

Last night I came home from my night-school class early. The teacher became ill and the class was cancelled. I caught my daughter and her boyfriend in a most embarrassing situation. There is no question about what they were doing.

The boy is 17—her steady—a nice kid, good student, no bum. He left without saying anything. My daughter was so humiliated she couldn't face me. It's just as well. I was completely unstrung and wouldn't have known how to respond. Please tell me how to deal with this situation. I am—in Pieces

Dear I.P.: You sound like an intelligent woman so I needn't tell you there should be no yelling, berating or punishing. Once a girl has crossed that line the chances for total abstinence are slim.

Discuss with her the seriousness of a physical relationship—the risks, the commitment, the emotional investment. Make certain she has plenty of information. A mother who does this is not condoning pre-marital sex, she is being sensible and realistic.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm heart-sick over this and don't know what to do. Last week I was watching my favorite soap opera on TV and my dear friend and next door neighbor telephoned. I said, "I'm washing my hair, I'll call you back." Five minutes later she knocked on the door. She had brought me a freshly baked cake. She could see I was not washing my hair and was very hurt. I apologized but she would not accept my apologies. I've called her three times since but each time she says, "I'm washing my hair," and hangs up.

Please tell me what to do now.—Sorry in Sacramento

Dear Sorry: Forget it. You've let her know you're sorry and there's nothing more to say or do.

If the friendship ends because of this, it wasn't worth much.

Driving Another's Car Provides Cheap Vacation

By CARLTON SMITH
Next to riding with the hoboes on a freight train, possibly the least expensive form of vacation travel (and a whole lot classier than the freight train) is driving someone else's car. Generally, your only cost is for oil and gas; in some cases you'll even find that paid for you.

There are hundreds of "drive-away" or auto transportation company offices in cities throughout the country, and if you're not bound to rigid departure and arrival dates, chances are you can connect with some driverless car that has to be delivered somewhere near your destination, at least, at approximately the time you want to go.

For the driver, there aren't many catches in all this. (It's the owners of the cars who take on some risks.) You're given plenty of time to get to your destination; the companies don't want the cars pushed, or drivers under pressure. In case of accident, damage is covered by company insurance, with no driver liability unless you're guilty of negligence.

Where do all the driverless autos come from? Some are rental cars being shifted around. Many belong to vacationers who can afford the luxury of flying, and sending their cars on ahead. Others belong to two-car families moving cross-country. The auto-transportation companies are in the business of delivering these cars to their owners, at fees controlled by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

As a driver, you get on a company's list and wait for the next car going to New York, San Francisco, Sioux City, El Paso, or wherever you're headed. Or you can specify a future date, and the company will match it as nearly as possible to its delivery schedule.

In many cases you can arrange, ahead of time, to drive another car back on your return trip. Most of the time, though, the return is chancy. Much depends on seasonal flows. In June and December, there's little problem in arranging a trip to Florida, southern California or resort areas of the southwest. At the present time of year the heaviest traffic is to the West Coast, and northward.

To qualify as a driver you have to be an adult, licensed driver with acceptable identification and references. The ICC requires a physical examination, mostly to check eyesight, for which you'll pay around $5. You'll probably have to put up a deposit, typically $50, which the owner of the car re-funds when the car is delivered to him. (Don't turn over the keys until you've got your deposit back, and make sure that all damage to the car—dents and scratches, damaged upholstery, etc.—is listed on the manifest before you leave.)

You can take one or two passengers, if they're registered and approved, but don't plan on picking up a load of fun-loving friends to make a fun-filled junket of it, unbeknownst to the company. If anything goes wrong, you're on the hook.

It's the owner of the car, however, who's more likely to find himself impaled. Consumer agencies have filed complaints about such cases as these:

The owner of a car en route from New York to Florida got a report from the North Carolina Highway Patrol saying the driver had gone to sleep and hit a barricade. But the drive-away company said the accident was caused by "operational failure," there was no driver negligence, and no company liability for the extensive damage.

Another owner has been waiting two years to receive his car—or a replacement. Maryland authorities said the car was demolished in a crash there; again the company laid it to "operational failure" and said it had no liability.

SOYBEAN, GRAINS GENERALLY LOWER

CHICAGO (AP) — The weather was a factor again in early agricultural commodity futures dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

Trade was slow, however, and the price ranges in the major its relatively tight.

Reports that rain had fallen overnight and that more was expected throughout the day in the Central portion of the country generally inspired the speculative element to sell futures.

For some two to three weeks, areas in the Middle West were with little measurable precipitation.

In recent days, the fall has been ample, with Iowa reporting 1 to 6 inches of rain.

Soybean prices were down around 1 cent a bushel early in the session, then the rains tightened to about 1/2 cent in light, but mixed dealings.

Soybean meal was down around 40 points and soybean oil eased 6 to 7 points.

The rain also was a factor in the selling of corn and oats futures. Corn prices eased 1/2 cent early then recovered a small fraction. New crop options were under most pressure.

Trade in oats was confined to deferred options and dealings were very limited.

There were offerings in the iced broiler pit but no trades were consummated.

After about an hour, soybeans were 1/4 to 3/4 cent a bushel lower. July 3.53 1/4; wheat was unchanged to 1/4 lower. July 1.43 1/4; corn was 1/4 to 3/4 lower. July 1.24 and oats were 1/4 lower.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp drop in stock prices Friday gave the market its fifth straight loss. Trading was the slowest in a month.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials finished off 6.85 at 934.45. The latest decline in the blue-chip indicator brought the total loss over the past five sessions to nearly 27 points, its biggest weekly drop so far this year.

Declines on the New York Stock Exchange led advances by nearly 2 to 1.

Continued uneasiness about the economic proposals advanced by Sen. George McGovern, the frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, and concern about the high rates of inflation and unemployment reported for May were among the main reasons for the decline, analysts said.

The losers included farm implements, aircrafts, and tobaccos. Drugs were higher. All other groups were mixed.

Big Board volume totaled 12.79 million shares the lowest since last May 8, when 11.25 million shares were traded. The slow pace of trading prompted one analyst to remark that "a buyers' strike" was in progress. Thursday's volume was 13.82 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, turnover slowed to 3.6 million shares from 4.33 million shares Thursday.

The most-active Big Board issue was Levitz Furniture, off 3 1/2 at 35 on a volume of 229,400 shares. The stock closed off 2 1/2 Thursday, when it was the biggest loser on the NYSE.

Of the 1,720 issues traded on the Big Board, 883 declined, and 462 advanced. New yearly lows were reached by 134 issues and highs by 13.

Of the 1,188 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 560 declined, and 313 advanced.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks declined 0.28 to 59.35. The American Stock Exchange index slipped .07 to 27.44. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed off .42 at 106.86.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.9 at 324.4. Industrials were off 3.2, rails were off .3, and utilities were off 1.2.

HONEYMOON

The wedding bells rang, the bride was radiant, the groom's mother cried, just a little, and the maid of honor caught the bouquet. It was a perfect wedding, and the honeymoon has been ideal.

Tomorrow, this young couple will be going home to begin a new way of life. In it, reality will be combined with romance. There will be the blending of two temperaments under a single roof. There will be all the frustrations of daily living, and the pain as well as the pleasure that comes with just being alive.

How will they adjust? That depends on the basics that were taught to them years ago, in their own homes—and in church.

Betty Canary
Ways To Say 'I Love You'

A friend sent us a wall hanging. She had designed it and crafted it. A beautiful work of art that, in embroidery and applique, says, "I love you" in a dozen different languages.

I thought about memorizing these most beautiful of all words. But, I know that being able to say them — in any language — isn't enough. We can and do say "I love you" without ever verbalizing. Actions are, after all, the universal language.

"I love you" is:
A father buying a boy a new tie the day before his first job.
A sister sorting through old magazines for two days to help get your report on South America finished in time.

A mother says "What a nice boy" when a daughter is thrilled about a date. Especially when a mother wonders what Good Will reject bin a girl found him in!

"I love you" is:
A big brother mailing a little brother all the literature and samples he could pick up at a boat show.

A daughter forcing mother to rest in a lawn chair so she can prepare dinner for a surprise.

A mother cheerfully eating those very crunchy baked beans and hotdogs without giving a half-hour lecture on how to prepare a surprise dinner.

Calling anybody into the kitchen and giving them a kiss.

Particularly if that somebody thinks he's been called to empty the wastebaskets.

Anyone can smile when all finesses work. When they all lose, even strong men weep, but sometimes really strong bridge players manage to come out smiling.

North has a very sound raise to two spades and there South's jump to game. As a matter of fact, there are those who might make some sort of mild slam try with the South hand.

East wins the heart lead and returns a club. South makes his correct play, the 10, and West takes his jack.

West leads his singleton trump. South picks up the trumps and now has a chance to win the crying championship of the year. All he has to do is lead a second club and finesse the queen. West takes his king and returns the suit.

Eventually South loses the diamond finesse and complains bitterly that while a lucky player would make a slam, he is so unlucky that he can't even make game.

A good player sitting South plays just the least bit differently. He takes the diamond finesse first. It loses, but now the good player cashes his ace of diamonds, enters dummy with a trump, leads the jack of diamonds and watches the 10 fall from the East hand. This establishes dummy's nine and since the deuce of clubs has been discarded on the jack, the queen of clubs goes on the nine. There is no need to try that second club finesse and South makes his contract.

Ball-Point Pens

Impetus for U.S. acceptance of the ball-point pen was a request during World War II by the Army Quartermaster General for a writing instrument that would not leak in high altitudes, would use a quick-drying ink unaffected by climatic changes and contain a supply of ink that would last a considerable time, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Neighbors' Dogs Create
Nuisance, Needs Help

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is having to clean up after dogs who run free or are walked to our lawn and tree banks by their owners. Perhaps a reader may know of an inexpensive product to spread around that would repel those dogs? Our lawn is so large that it would cost a fortune to use a spray type repellent. — AMY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I hope someone can tell me how to clean the collar on a dark brown buckskin coat that has a label saying "Do Not Dry Clean." — LORNA B.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. S. F. R. whose mahogany dresser was marked up with a ball point pen — I find that hair spray removes these marks from almost anything. Spray and then wipe quickly. — FRANCES

DEAR POLLY — Hair spray is good for removing such marks from many things but do try it on an inconspicuous spot first so as to see the effect on the finish of the dresser. If the ink has soaked into the wood itself I do not think it will help. I found it removed such marks (fresh ones) from a table but dulled the finish. The shellac finish seemed to disappear when the hair spray was wiped off and waxing was required to restore a gloss. Try with reservations as the finish on the piece will be the determining factor in its success. As far as I know there is no sure cure but if the piece is heavily waxed the ink may have penetrated through it only and then it would come off. — POLLY

Wild Pitch Lets LA Tip Cubs 2-1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy Grabarkewitz raced home all the way from second base on Juan Pizarro's wild pitch with one out in the eighth inning Thursday night, giving Los Angeles a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs and preserving the Dodgers' one-half game lead over Cincinnati in the National League West.

Grabarkewitz, batting for winning pitcher Tommy John, 5-3, drew a leadoff walk and was sacrificed to second by Bobby Valentine before Pizarro uncorked his wild pitch.

Pizarro, 3-2, blanked the Dodgers on four hits until Steve Garvey hammered his fourth home run of the season with two out in the seventh to knot the score. The Cubs had taken a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Glenn Beckert's infield hit, a walk to Carmen Fanzone and Jose Cardenal's single.

Guided Tours Of Koster Dig Start Today

KAMPSVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — The Koster archeological site, one of the largest in North America, will open to visitors for the first time this year today.

The Foundation for Illinois Archeology said visitors will be guided through the excavations from 6 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each weekday plus Saturdays and from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Sundays.

The archeological dig, which has yielded evidence of 12 prehistoric settlements dating back to 5100 B.C., is located around bluffs along the Illinois River on the Koster farm, about 50 miles north of St. Louis.

A museum, in which most of the important discoveries from the site are on display, is located in Kampsville, a few miles from the site.

Last year more than 10,000 persons visited the Koster site and the museum.

Precinct Changes For Some Voters Announced Here

Several changes in precincts for recently-annexed city residents and a change in boundaries for the southeast part of South Jacksonville have been announced by County Clerk Louise Coop who is in charge of all permanent registration of voters in Morgan county.

Residents of Rolling Acres Mobile Home Park have been removed from County Precinct No. 24 and placed in City Precinct No. 6.

Chateau DeFleur Apartments and Pleasant View Mobile Home Park residents were removed from County Precinct No. 24 and placed in City Precinct No. 8.

Holiday Inn Apartments on West Morton have been placed in City Precinct No. 13. The West side of South Main and the South side of Vandalia to the Village Limits, including all of Laborers Home Development area has been removed from Precinct 26 and placed in Precinct 27.

The changes were necessary to make sure those voters who reside in the City of Jacksonville have an opportunity to vote in city elections.

Mrs. Coop said new voter registration cards have already been sent to every registered voter residing in the area affected.

Mrs. Coop cautioned that particularly those residents at the east edge of the city should check their voter registration cards. She indicated that because of the addresses, one or two could have been missed who simply listed their residence as Rural Route 4 and not in the two trailer parks affected.

Anyone who has been missed should appear in person at the office of the County Clerk in the courthouse.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

SATURDAY, JUNE 10—Born today, you have a marvelous head for business and can look forward both to shouldering considerable responsibility during your lifetime as well as earning a considerable amount of money—if you are wise enough to get the training you need early enough. Should you fail in the latter, you will still possess a remarkable sense for the workings of the world of commerce—even though you may have shut yourself out of active participation in it, except possibly as a "spectator sport" at the marketplace.

Highly intuitive, you have been gifted with a kind of sixth sense when it comes to handling other people. You know now to manipulate others into making the decisions or performing the actions you wish of them—without their knowing you have done so. At the same time, however, you have a deep, inborn sense of what is right and wrong, which keeps you from taking advantage of your ability to maneuver people to do your bidding. You would in no wise direct people otherwise than in their own interest.

Somewhat aloof in your relationships with others, you sometimes give the impression of coldness, of distance. Yet you are a deeply emotional person, given perhaps to taking the difficulties of others too much to your own personal heart. Your associations with members of the opposite sex may be very complex, for in shyness you will often feel what you cannot express—and express what you do not feel.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, June 11

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—A restful day for the Gemini who makes an effort to get along with those around him—even those of whom he is not particularly fond.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Become acquainted with new people in the neighborhood. An excellent time for extending the hand of friendship in areas you've not explored before.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)—Another's statements must not be taken as more profound than they really are. Otherwise, you may find yourself acting according to ill-made plans.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Listen to everyone's opinion before arriving at your own. There is no reason for you to think you have to make your own decisions today.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Morning worship should put you in the mood for some serious consideration of your past and contemplation of your future. Look ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Be prepared for a knotty problem this Sunday afternoon. You should have little difficulty setting things to rights—if you keep your head.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Allow your horizons to expand as they will. There is no need for you to limit your associations with people—nor your affection for them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—So long as you've done your homework, this should be a good day for establishing personal relations with somebody new. Know what he or she likes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—One who has been your ally for a long time may turn to you for help today. Accept your chance to return many favors by a single action.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Make sure you are justified in your suspicions before you voice your views. Otherwise, you may make more problems than you solve.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Make this a useful Sunday as well as a restful one. Reconsider your views concerning the activities of children; you may have been wrong.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Though a dispute within the family may make the morning hazardous emotionally, the afternoon and evening hours offer much in the way of spiritual gain.

TRY THE CLASSIFIEDS

Lack Of Funds Halts Public And Parochial Pupil Aid Program

The Title III Program, co-sponsored the past two years by School District No. 117 and Jacksonville State Hospital, ended its activity program May 25th. The program has been funded primarily by Title III, Elementary and Secondary Education Act which provides seed money for new and innovative solutions to school problems.

The local program was designed to help those whose behavior constitutes trouble in the classroom and detracts from their opportunities to learn. It is unique in several ways:

(1) It is in the evening, in addition to regular school, so children stay in their regular classes; (2) It involves parents in an effort to teach them more effective methods of child management; and (3) Teachers are shown more effective ways to manage classroom behavior.

Public and Parochial This program has received referral of approximately 90 students from the public and parochial schools in District No. 117, and an additional 80 referrals from the Adolescent Unit at Jacksonville State Hospital.

Each child met in small activity groups twice each week for two hours an evening, throughout the school year. Public and parochial school children met each Tuesday and Thursday evening, while the Adolescents met each Monday and Wednesday evening.

Teacher Referred

Referrals were made to the T-3 office by classroom teachers who designated a particular behavior the child should work to improve. Adolescents were referred by the Director of Resident Education, Jacksonville State Hospital. Children were grouped according to age with a teacher or some other person with special abilities, along with a helper, assigned to each group of ten children. Behavior modification techniques were used during the activity sessions, and parents who chose to participate were taught a course in child management using Behavior Modification.

To evaluate the effectiveness of the program, the T-3 psychologist periodically tested each child and collected information about his behavior from his teachers and parents.

Show Improvements On eleven different measures of student performance, T-3 participants consistently showed some degree of improvement in their behavior and level of adjustment from the beginning to the end of the year. Furthermore, it was shown that the gains made by these students were greater than would normally have been expected in the course of one school year.

The greatest improvements were shown in the following areas:

By the end of the year students in the T-3 program were better able to follow directions and pay attention according to specific measures of these abilities. T-3 students also improved significantly in math achievement.

The math achievement scores of students in the T-3 program were compared to those of other students who were not in the T-3 program. Although their average scores were about the same at the beginning of the year, the T-3 students scored higher than the other students at the end of the year.

Teachers and parents were asked to rate the behavior of T-3 students throughout the year. According to their reports, T-3 students showed significant improvement concerning particular behavior problems and in their general behavior.

Things That Make Life Worth Living

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living: The look of wondering what to do next on the face of a small child after he takes the first two steps of his life without falling down.

The feeling of bedtime drowsiness after a day filled with outdoor activity. Having someone to console you in a time of grief, and realizing that this someone makes it worthwhile to stay alive.

Walking at night from a stranded car to get a can of gas—and finding a station still open with its lights blazing just 100 feet over the next hill. You hate to go to the 25th reunion of your high school class because you're fat, and you feel that when you meet your former sweetheart there you'll look ridiculous. So you diet off 30 pounds and when you finally do meet your old flame you discover she has three chins and outweighs you by 15 pounds.

Admiring the soaring flight patterns a hawk makes against the blue sky on a windy day. Running for shelter with a pretty girl just as the raindrops begin to patter on the picnic.

Being told by your friends that you actually look a lot handsomer and younger than the picture the local paper printed of you after your election as neighborhood chairman of a charity drive. Coming upon a really tasty new soft drink that pleases you after you've been on the wagon for three whole months and see nothing but a palate-palling future ahead.

Deciding that pride alone won't permit you to die now because you haven't achieved enough yet to make a respectable brag on your tombstone. Getting in a lump sum a pay raise retroactive to two years before.

The surprise and respect in your 16-year-old son's face when you show him that his decrepit old man can still kick a football five yards farther than he can.

Thrilling your wife so much with an unexpected gift that she sobs on your shoulder with happiness. The relief on opening what you fear is going to be a new can of worms—and finding it

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Cat Scratch Fever Is Quite Rare

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you please explain what cat scratch fever is and its after effects if any? I have children who play with cats a lot and I would like to know how dangerous it is. They are often scratched by them.

Dear Reader — Cat scratch fever can be caused by any puncture or scratch on the skin. It doesn't have to be from the claws or teeth of the cat. It just happens that the cat is the most frequent source of these minor skin injuries in children.

If it is caused by a cat it is not because the cat is sick, it is just because the germ that is responsible for the illness is on the cat's claws or teeth.

The truth is authorities haven't agreed yet on the exact cause of cat scratch fever, that is, whether it is a bacteria or virus or some other germ. Most investigators think it is a virus. If the skin is broken the agent penetrates the body's defenses and sets up a local infection. This may be very minor, causing a few red-den bumps at the site where the scratch occurred. Sometimes there may be little blisters or a scab. Usually the site of the scratch heals without even forming a scar.

The infectious process really hits the lymph nodes and as with other infections it attacks those lymph nodes directly in line with the lymph drainage from the injury. On the hand, the arm pit lymph nodes will be affected. If it is on the foot or on the ankle, it will affect those in the groin. The lymph nodes swell and become tender and sometimes the skin over them is reddened. Along with this the persons may have fever and a generalized, nonspecific illness. The lymph nodes soften and gradually return to normal.

Sometimes, the softened lymph node becomes an abscess and may drain. Usually even though the lymph node may contain pus it is not drained because it will then take longer to heal. Rarely encephalitis may follow such an infection but that is true of most virus infections too. Fortunately, the type of encephalitis that has rarely been observed following cat scratch fever apparently doesn't leave any residual brain damage.

There really isn't any good treatment. Antibiotics don't affect viruses and they don't cure cat scratch fever. About the only thing the doctor can do is to provide symptomatic treatment to make the patient comfortable.

I would like to add that considering the large number of cats in families and the number of cat scratches it is rather remarkable how rare this problem really is.

Perry Wins 10th In 7-1 Decision

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gaylord Perry hit his first American league home run and became the first 10-game winner in the majors while rookie Jack Brohamer socked his first two homers to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 7-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Friday night.

Oakland Breaks Loose In Eighth For 10-5 Margin

DETROIT (AP) — The Oakland A's bombed three Detroit relievers for eight hits and six runs in the eighth inning, three runs on a tie-breaking pinch homer by Gene Tenace, and romped to a 10-5 victory over the Tigers Friday night, extending their winning streak to seven games.

The A's trailed 5-4 going into the eighth but Sal Bando led off against Chuck Seelbach with a double and scored on Mike Epstein's single to tie it. Ollie Brown singled and Dave Duncan was safe on a fielder's choice before Fred Scherman relieved and struck out pinch hitter Ron Clark.

Tenace, hitting only .191, batted for pitcher Darold Knowles and unloaded his three-run homer into the lower deck in left field.

Bert Campaneris followed with a single and Joe Rudi extended his hitting streak to 16 games by doubling him home. Reggie Jackson collected an infield single before Chris Zachary came in to pitch for Detroit and was greeted by Bando's run-scoring single.

Detroit had taken a 4-0 lead on Dick McAuliffe's solo homer off starter Catfish Hunter in the third and a three-run blast by Norm Cash in the fifth.

Oakland tagged Detroit starter Tom Timmerman for four runs in the sixth on two-run homers by Bando and Ollie Brown.

Pinch hitter Al Kaline's bloop, wind-aided single in the seventh with two men on gave Detroit its fifth run.

The loss was Detroit's third in a row and sliced the Tigers' lead over Baltimore in the American League East to two games.

Lolich Not One To Hold Grudge

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Denny McLain was the subject under discussion and somebody asked Mickey Lolich, his old buddy, whether he felt sorry for him. "I don't want to say I feel sorry for the guy," said the Detroit Tigers' lefty. "It makes it sound like a sob story. Let's just say I wish his life, his life outside of baseball, would've been more successful. He's on hard times right now, but he's an unusual fella. He's got a lotta determination, a lotta guts. He's a great competitor. He may come back."

Mickey Lolich is soft as putty.

He couldn't hold a grudge if you gave him a safe deposit box to keep it in.

It's something he can't help. He'll fight you up and down and six ways from Sunday on the ball field, but when it's over, it's over with Mickey Lolich.

One of his best friends makes a promise once to take him and his wife home in his private plane, the promise having been made even before the trip began, but then this friend buzzes off leaving Lolich and his wife high and dry 504 miles from home.

Asks a Question

Before the friend takes off, Mickey Lolich goes to him and says, "What about my wife and me?"

"You just gotta find another way home," is the answer Lolich gets.

The friend, of course, was Denny McLain and the episode occurred three years ago after the All-Star game in Washington. Lolich blew his cork at the time, and still hasn't forgotten but he has no more resentment for McLain, now toiling in the bushes with Birmingham.

"As far as his ending up in the minor leagues is concerned, I don't see that as the end of the world," says Lolich, who, in his own way, takes life a lot less seriously than McLain does sometimes.

"I look at it this way," he goes on. "A ballplayer starts in the minor leagues, eventually reaches the majors and then has a choice of either going back to the minors or retiring. Me? I'll probably do what most ball players do, I'll retire. But Denny is different. He's young enough, 28, and has a chance to come back."

"Say What You Want..."

"Say what you want, about the salary he's making or anything else, but this is tough on him, his wife and his children. I only feel sorry for a guy who was the best pitcher in baseball, a guy who was sitting on top of the world, and then due to some bad investments, his whole world fell apart."

Mickey Lolich, only three years older than Denny McLain, was sewing one of the sleeves of his navy blue windbreaker as he talked. He was scheduled to pitch this evening and was the only player left in the Detroit clubhouse now. The rest of the Tigers were out in the dugout watching the Yankees take batting practice.

"I don't like to go out to the bench before a ball game I've got to pitch," said Lolich, who was in the running for the American League's Cy Young Award last year with 25 wins and is again this year with 8 so far.

"I remember coming into Yankee Stadium for the first time in 1963. I was gonna pitch that day and before the ball game, like now, I went out to watch the Yanks take batting practice. Mantle hit one in the third deck and I said wow! It sorta shook me up. I got beat that day. Since then I don't go out any more."

WIN AT ROODHOUSE

ROODHOUSE — Lyle Winters and Tom Steeleman sparked their teams to victories Friday night in the Roodhouse Fast Pitch Softball League.

Winters, who took the mound win on a seven-hitter, was four-for-four at the plate with eight RBIs and three runs scored, including a pair of home runs as Roodhouse clipped Murrayville 11-3. Lyndell Winters and Gordon Brannan also homered for the winners.

Steelman blasted a pair of roundtrippers as Winchester got by White Hall 7-4. Bob Moore also homered for Winchester, with Mike Edwards stroking a roundtripper for White Hall.

Forty-one teams of 205 men competed in the first ABC bowling championships in Chicago in 1901.

Church League

Nazarene pounded out 35 hits and outlasted Lincoln Avenue baptist 'A' for a 28-9 Church League victory Friday evening.

Jim Vaniter and Jack Harney each had four hits for the winners.

Blair Sparkles

As Baltimore

Tops Rangers 7-2

ARLINGTON (AP) — Paul Blair stroked three hits, including a double that drove in the winning run in the fourth inning, to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-2 victory over the Texas Rangers Friday night.

Blair, whose first-inning single contributed to a two-run rally, doubled home Don Buford from first base in the fourth to give the Orioles a 3-1 lead.

The Baltimore centerfielder also tripled to lead off the third inning in his 3-for-5 night, but was left stranded by his teammates.

The Orioles took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Don Buford walked, moved to third on Blair's single and scored on Don Baylor's base hit. After a walk to Bobby Grich loaded the bases, Brooks Robinson came through with a sacrifice fly for the second run.

Frank Howard blasted a home run in the Texas second to cut Baltimore's margin to 2-1 before the Orioles came back in the fourth.

The Rangers cut the lead to 3-2 in the fifth, but Baltimore made it 4-2 in the seventh.

The Orioles wrapped it up with three more runs in the ninth to make a winner out of Mike Cuellar, 3-5. Rich Hand, 2-4, lost the game for Texas.

Triple Crown Final Leg Slated Today

AD—TRIPLE CROWN

NEW YORK (AP) — Riva Ridge, a champion who has won eight stakes including the Kentucky Derby, and Key To The Mint, the Withers winner, were expected to battle it out in the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes Saturday.

Eight other colts, including No Le Haze and Smiling Jack, were entered Friday in the gruelling 1 1/2 mile test, third and final leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Bee Bee Bee, who ruined any chances of there being a Triple Crown winner by upsetting Riva Ridge in the Preakness, is skipping the Belmont.

Riva Ridge, Meadow Stable's 1971 king of the 2-year-olds and the early 8-5 favorite, will break from the rail under Ron Turcotte while Paul Mellon's Key To The Mint, second choice at 3-1, will leave the No. 6 post under Braulio Baeza.

Angel Cordero Jr., replacing Phil Rubbico, will send No Le Haze, runner-up in the Derby and Preakness, from the No. 3 post; Frank Iannelli will start from the outside on Mr. and Mrs. F. William Harder's Smiling Jack, first in the Jersey Derby, and Bill Hartack will leave the No. 7 gate on William and Thomas Bancroft's Cloudy Dawn, a grass specialist.

Completing the field, their jockeys and post positions, are Cragwood Stable's Zulu Tom, Jorge Velasquez, No. 1; Joseph and William Stavola's Freezet No. 4; May Gluck's Spruce, Raoul Cespedes, No. 5; Thomas Evans' Prince Fauquier Eddie Belmonte, No. 8, and Greentree Stable's Ruritania, Mike Venezia, No. 9.

No Le Haze was made the third early favorite at 4-1 while Smiling Jack was listed at 6-1. The Belmont Park odds maker made Zulu Tom, Freezet and Big Spruce each 15-1; Cloudy Dawn and Ruritania each 20-1, and Prince Faquier 50-1.

With 10 starters the 104th Belmont will be worth a gross $155,900 with $93,540 to the winner. Each starter will carry 126 pounds.

Post time is scheduled for 5:35 p.m., EDT.

Television coverage is set for 5 p.m.-6 p.m. and radio coverage for 5:25-5:45 p.m., both by CBS.

It had been expected that either or both Upper Case and Spanish Riddle, trained by Lucien Laurin who handles Riva Ridge, and Eager Exchange might be entered, but the real surprise was that Cloudy Dawn was entered.

The grey son of Grey Dawn II-Creme Brule won two of six starts as a 2-year-old and has won two of five this year. He has never won at longer than seven furlongs on the dirt.

Cloudy Dawn is trained by Frank Whiteley, who also trained Damascus for Brancroft's mother. Damascus won the Preakness and Belmont and horse of the year honors in 1967.

Riva Ridge, winner of 10 of 14 career starts and three of five this year and earner of $708,705, is coming off a fourth place finish in the Preakness after he had dominated the Derby.

Both Key to the Mint and Smiling Jack are coming off good victories.

No Le Haze had a string of five victories followed by three seconds snapped when he finished a badly beaten sixth in the Withers.

Jamieson In Lead Via Ace On Final

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jimmy Jamieson aced the final hole Friday and vaulted into sole possession of the second-round lead in the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic a few hours after flu-stricken Lee Trevino was forced to withdraw.

Jamieson, a non-winner in four years on the tour who attained golfing prominence with a strong challenge in the Masters earlier this year, had a three-under-par 69 and a 36-hole total of 136.

That put the chunky, 29-year-old golfer from Illinois eight under par and gave him a one-stroke lead over red-haired Bob Murphy.

Murphy, who flew in his old college coach for a lesson, also shot a 69.

Jamieson's hole-in-one came on the 125-yard ninth hole, his final hole of the day.

He used a pitching wedge and the ball landed some 20 feet in front of the flag, skipped flag-high on the first bounce, then rolled into the cup.

"I just couldn't believe it," Jamieson said of his first ace on the pro tour.

Describing the scene later, Jamieson said the spectators around the green "went out of their minds."

"So did I," he added.

U.S. Leads In Curtis Cup Action

WESTERN GAILES, Scotland (AP) — The United States, after trailing 1-2 in the morning foursomes, rallied back in the singles Friday to lead Britain 5-3 with one match halved at the end of the first day of the Curtis Cup women's golf competition.

Martha Kirouac of Rancho Bernardo, Calif., the 1970 American women's champion, played a big part in the American success. She was the only U.S. player to win two matches.

She partnered the reigning U.S. champion Laura Baugh of Long Beach, Calif., to a 2 and 1 victory over Mary Everard and Beverly Huke in the morning.

In the afternoon Mrs. Kirouac went out again in pouring rain to beat Miss Everard 4 and 3 in the singles.

Other American singles winners over the 6,331-yard par 38-75 seaside course were Jane Booth of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala.

Miss Booth downed Mrs. Belle Robertson, the veteran Scottish campaigner, 3 and 1 after a lucky start. Her overhit chip at the first hole struck the flag and dropped a few inches from the hole.

Miss McIntire was a 4 and 3 winner over Dinah Oxley.

Miss Barry beat Mary McKenna 2 and 1.

Miss Baugh, 17-year-old glamor girl of American golf, halved a tense match with Michelle Walker, the British champion.

Miss Walker was one up at the turn and went two up with a birdie three at the 10th. Miss Baugh won the 12th and 15th, both with pars.

The only American girl beaten in the singles was Lancy Smith of Snyder, N.Y., who has been fighting off a chill. Kathryn Phillips, the British left-hander, defeated her 2 up.

Miss Smith won the first and third holes and held her lead until she lost the last four holes.

In the morning Mrs. Kirouac and Miss Baugh sent the American team off to a good start by winning the first foursomes, but Britain won the next two.

Belle Robertson and Diane Frearson, down three holes at the 10th, charged back to defeat Miss Booth and Miss McIntire 2 and 1.

Miss Walker and Miss McKenna won one up against Hollis Stacy of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Barry.

U.S. Captain Jean Crawford of New York City said: "Most of the matches were very tight, just as I thought they would be."

"I wasn't surprised that we were trailing after the foursomes. I've seen that happen before. Our girls seldom play foursomes at home."

Three more foursomes and six singles are scheduled for the second day Saturday.

EVANGELISM CONGRESS — VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A group of evangelical leaders from five continents including Billy Graham, announced here that an International Congress on World Evangelization will be held in Europe in the late summer or early fall of 1974, with up to 5,000 delegates from throughout the world.

They said its aim will be to call the church to "finish the task of proclaiming the Gospel to the world in our generation."

A similar congress was held in Berlin in 1966.

threw my cap in the air. "I think I threw my arm out of joint."

Chi Chi Rodriguez, who broke a long victory drought at the Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas two months ago, had a 68 and was alone in third at 139, five under par on the 6,708-yard layout.

Lou Graham, Jerry Heard and Gay Brewer were next at 140. Brewer, who shared the first-round lead with Jamieson, slipped to a 73. Graham, one of the hottest players on the tour in recent weeks, had another 70 and Heard, winner of two titles and more than $100,000 this season, took a 71.

Gibby Gilbert was challenging for the lead late in the day, but finished with a double-bogey and a bogey for 71. He was one of about a half dozen at that figure, five strokes back.

Tom Weiskopf, the defending champion, had a 74 for a 149 and just made the cut for the final two rounds. Gary Player managed a 71-143.

Trevino struggled in with a 70-144, comfortably under the cut, but pulled out. "I had the flu when I came here," he explained, "and I just can't shake it. The only way to get rid of it is to rest."

The portly Murphy had been in the clubhouse for several hours with the lead when Jamieson, a late starter, caught and passed him with his hole-in-one.

Murphy, who has been among the top 10 finishers nine times this year without winning a tourney, had his former college coach, Conrad Rehling, flown to Philadelphia for some help with what Murphy said were flaws in his game.

"I'm playing so much better now," said Murphy after the lesson from Rehling, now coach of the University of Alabama golf squad. Murphy played under Rehling at the University of Florida.

STEERING COLUMN

By Bill Brodrick

DOVER, Del. — Bobby Allison, the winner of last Sunday's Mason-Dixon 500-mile Grand National stock car race here at the Dover Downs International Speedway, doesn't like to stay in one place very long.

The 34-year-old race car driver has been hopping around more this week than a one-legged ballet dancer. The only time he's been in one place for any length of time is when he's driving in a four, five- or six-hundred mile race. There, he has to sit behind the wheel of his race car for at least a couple of hours.

Last Sunday, Allison boosted his season's winnings over the $98,000 mark by going round and round the 1-mile Dover Downs track for 500 miles at an average speed of 118.679 mph to win the event.

Monday morning he flew home to Hueytown, Alabama, with his family in his own twin-engine Aeor Star airplane at a somewhat faster average speed of better than 150 mph.

The following Tuesday night Allison had flown to Davenport, Iowa, where he drove his sportsman car, a Chevrolet, in a 100-mile race on a one-half mile dirt track.

Wednesday found Bobby in Detroit, Michigan, where he spent the day doing promotion work for this Sunday's 400-mile Grand National stock car race at the Michigan International Speedway located in the Irish Hills of the Wolverine State just south of the City of Jackson.

Thursday is spent practicing and qualifying the Junior Johnson prepared Chevrolet for Sunday's race. Friday is spent by Allison practicing and scuffing in his tires. Saturday, he flies to Burlington, Vermont, to drive 100 laps on a small one-third mile asphalt speedway in the same sportsman car that he drove in Davenport.

As soon as the Saturday night race is over, he's back in the cockpit of his plane to return to Michigan where it's 400-miles of racing on Sunday.

Why does Bobby Allison spend so much time flying around the country to race in what appears to be small-time races?

David said: "Newcombe is very keen to play, and naturally we would love to have him. So we are holding his entry over until June 18 to give him a chance to prove he is eligible."

WCT claims Newcombe is under contract until later this year and wants him to play in a tournament at St. Louis while Wimbledon is on.

at equally small-time tracks, when he could stay at home and just go run the big races?

"Actually there's two reasons for it," said Bobby. "First, the promoters pay expenses and give me a little extra for driving in their races. Secondly, it gives me a chance to race my cars at places where they normally don't run. I've got a business at home in Hueytown of building parts for race cars. Racing around the country like I'm doing helps me show off my equipment. Most of my equipment is used by the drivers who race on the small tracks and it's just good for business for me to go where the customers are.

"It also helps keep me in shape," Allison continued. "Driving 500 miles at a track like Dover and 400 miles at Michigan like I have to do this Sunday (June 11) is hard on you. If you're in shape, you can handle it."

The only shape Allison's schedule would put the average human in would be flat out in a hospital bed.

"I'll be racing the same car in Burlington that I drove in Davenport," said Bobby. "I've got a two-man crew that tows it across the country. They'll stop in Michigan and change the engine. When I leave Burlington Saturday night to drive in Michigan, they'll leave for Hueytown with the car."

Last year Allison drove in 98 races across the country. To do that he put over 500 hours on his plane that has since been sold. He flies a new one now. The way his schedule for 1972 is shaping up, he'll probably need another new plane next year.

The 27-year-old Australian claims that his contract with World Championship Tennis has expired and that therefore he is free to play at Wimbledon.

Entries for the tournament, which starts June 26, closed Friday. But Herman David, chairman of the All-England club, said Newcombe must first be reinstated as an independent professional by the Australian Lawn Tennis Association and which to do this.

David said: "Newcombe is very keen to play, and naturally we would love to have him. So we are holding his entry over until June 18 to give him a chance to prove he is eligible."

Napoles In Defense Of Title

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Jose Napoles makes the seventh defense of his world welterweight title Saturday night against Adolph Pruitt of St. Louis in a scheduled 15-round bout at Monterrey's covered bull ring where a capacity crowd of 15,000 is expected.

Napoles, a Cuban-born boxer who holds Mexican citizenship, won the title from Curtis Cokes of Dallas April 18, 1969. This will be Pruitt's first crack at the crown.

The mandatory eight-count will be in effect and three knockdowns in a round will terminate the fight. However, the bell can not save a boxer and the referee will have no vote in the fight decision.

Napoles is recognized as champion and Pruitt the No. 1 challenger in their division by the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association.

Napoles, 31, is shooting for his 62nd victory against four losses and one draw. Pruitt, 32, has a 42-9-2 record.

Both boxers conducted part of their training in Mexico City before coming here a week ago. The champion has a $70,000 guarantee for putting his crown on the line and Pruitt will pick up a $10,000 purse.

The fight was to be carried via closed circuit television to the U.S. and home television in Mexico.

The mustachioed Napoles stopped Pruitt in the third round of an earlier fight in Mexico City in 1965. Fans claimed at the time that Pruitt had not been tagged hard enough to lose on a technical knockout after the bout showed Pruitt had an injured shoulder.

Pruitt said he has no planned strategy for the bout, "because Napoles is a versatile boxer and you never know what he's going to do."

The fight was to be carried via closed circuit television to the U.S. and home television in Mexico.

The mustachioed Napoles stopped Pruitt in the third round of an earlier fight in Mexico City in 1965. Fans claimed at the time that Pruitt had not been tagged hard enough to lose on a technical knockout after the bout showed Pruitt had an injured shoulder.

Pruitt said he has no planned strategy for the bout, "because Napoles is a versatile boxer and you never know what he's going to do."

Donohue Takes Temporary Hold On Pole Spot

MOSPORT PARK, Ontario (AP) — Indianapolis winner Mark Donohue challenged Team McLaren with a track record 119.307 miles per hour in a bright new turbocharged Porsche Friday and gained temporary hold on the pole position for Saturday's opener of the Can-Am road racing series.

Donohue, making his first start in the $750,000 series since 1967, toured the 2.495-mile Mosport Park circuit in 1 minute, 14.2 seconds to highlight the first day of time trials.

The pole winner and other starting berths in the $75,000 race will be determined at the end of final qualifying Saturday.

Pete Revson, the 1971 Can-Am champion who is subbing on the McLaren team for world driving titleholder Jackie Stewart, was Friday's second-best qualifier. He was clocked at 1:14.4, or 118.7 mph.

The 23-year-old driver covered the rugged 57-mile course in 10 hours, 56 minutes, lowering the record of 11 hours, 11 minutes set last year.

Ferro came from near the rear of the 300-car field to take the victory.

"I flew over trees, rocks and I think a car somewhere along the line," Ferro said. "My biggest problem was passing all that traffic. The buggy ran beautiful but the rain and fog was awful."

Ferro, in a Sandmaster Volkswagen, finished about 2 1/2 hours after Walker Evans, 33, of Riverside, Calif., completed the run in 11 hours, 19 minutes and was considered the apparent winner. Evans piloted a Ford pickup truck.

Mickey Thompson, 43, of Long Beach, Calif., was the first among the four-wheelers to cross the finish line. His time was 11 hours, 37 minutes. He finished second to Evans and Shelby Mongean, in the production 2-wheel utility drive class and third over-all behind Ferro and Evans.

Rumbling In LPGA

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — The silence is almost deafening this week at the $50,000 Eve LPGA Golf championship. Little is being said publicly, but the rumbling behind the scenes is creating sonic booms.

The suspension of Janie Blalock and her counterpunch, a $5 million federal court suit, has rocked the boat, just as the women's tour has drawn over $1 million in prize money for the first year.

On the advice of attorneys, no one is talking, neither Janie nor LPGA officials. However, there is plenty of discussion in private, in motel rooms, at dinner tables and elsewhere.

Reliable sources told The Associated Press Friday that some veteran members of the LPGA tour are attempting to line up a general boycott of the next tournament, June 23-25 at Southbury, Conn., if Miss Blalock is permitted to play.

Marlene Hagge, a charter member of the LPGA, founded in 1955, denied the report, and LPGA Executive Director Bud Erickson said he knew of no talk of any boycott.

"Someone had the wrong information," Mrs. Hagge said. "We certainly aren't thinking about any boycott. We'll definitely play in the Heritage."

Miss Blalock, 26-year-old former New England amateur champion from Portsmouth, N.H., went into court last week after being suspended by the LPGA for one year for "actions inconsistent with the code of ethics of the organization."

She was granted a temporary injunction barring the suspension pending a hearing in U.S. District Court in Atlanta, probably next week.

Miss Blalock has consistently denied any willful violation of the rules and the LPGA refuses to disclose the charges or name her accusers because of the court case.

U.S. International, which took a 10-shot lead into Friday's final, edged fast-closing Columbus, Ga., College by three shots—1147 to 1150.

Angelo State, Tex., finished third

Fishing News Notes

By DICK SELLARS

Over the years there has been many diving baits for Bass fishing the big, big—Heleberden—waterdog and the bomber have been ones most talked about. The bomber has got to be one of the best lures ever made. I've used them all and have had better luck on heleberdens and big digs, but the lure you hear about the most is the bomber. I've been to Canada and the trolling bomber was a very good bait for Lake Trout. Northerns and Walleye have been taken by the bomber bait. Large Mouth Bass have been taken all over the country. Crappie and Blue Gill have been known to hit then, although not in big numbers mainly because of its size. I've seen it worked, many ways—slow retrieve. Bobbed on top and I've seen it retrieved by reeling it as hard as a person could retrieve it. It seems to be a lure that can catch fish by just being in the water. The way most fishermen fish it is, throw it over points and brush piles and retrieve it about as fast as possible. They drive it down by reeling fast and making it dig into the bottom of the lake. If it hangs up let your line go slack, it will float up when you start your retrieve again, it comes over the top of logs and obstacles that might hang it up. The bomber has been one of the favorite baits for fishermen fishing at Sancris Lake near Kincaid. My 10 year old son and Bob Hunt caught Bass at Lake Jacksonville the other night on bombers. No matter whether you go north or south bombers catch fish. White bombers seem to be one of the most popular colors, but all colors will catch fish.

The Jacksonville, Illinois Bass Club had its first contest with another Club, by fishing the Taylorville Bass Club. Fishing them on their favorite lake, we all learned a lot. They out-fished us 60lb.-15 oz. to 21-lb.-11 oz. Both Clubs caught 82 lb.-10 oz. of fish together. Mel Howard

Bad Storm Catches Lake Sang-Chris Bass Fishermen

By JIM HALL

What started out as an interesting and challenging Bass Tournament with the Taylorville Bass Club (at Sang-Chris Lake) almost turned into near disaster for several fishermen.

Last Sunday after a 5 a.m. roust-out and a quick breakfast at the Ranch House Restaurant, the Jacksonville Bass Club pulled out for an official challenge Bass Tournament. Clear weather started off an ideal morning of bass fishing.

The Taylorville Bass Club furnished the boats (we should have brought our own) and we all set out for a day of Bass fishing at Sang-Chris Lake.

My fishing partner, from Taylorville, was a nice enough guy, but he sure knew that lake and was an expert on positioning the boat. He caught fish, and I didn't. I have fished with a lot of the Jacksonville Bass Club members, and they all have been real sportsmen. I can't say that about some members of the Taylorville Bass Club.

About 2:30 in the afternoon, I noticed a storm approaching from the south, while we were fishing the southwest arm of the lake. I kept my eye on it, and watched the thunderheads become larger and larger. Finally I asked my fishing partner what precautions he was going to take. He seemed completely disinterested in the storm, and kept casting for Bass.

The wind started picking up, and the water got choppy. I dug out my rain gear and put it on. I secured my fishing equipment, and put my rod up. Finally both fronts moved together, and it really started blowing and getting rough. By now, I was in the mood for only one thing, and that was to get back to the launch ramps as fast as possible. After a quick, bitter, but short conversation with my fishing partner, we took off for the launch ramps.

It was rough going up the west arm, and it got rougher after we came out of the arm and started east across open water. The lake was full of swells and whitecaps, and it started to pour. The wind-driven rain and lightning made the situation worse. We pounded our way to the ramp, taking water all the way in. Once we were in, I noticed some of the guys didn't make it.

Everyone who did manage to make it in finally realized how serious it was. In the end, nobody drowned, but that storm at Sang-Chris taught this bass fisherman a lesson he will never forget.

White Hall Reservoir Loaded With Bass

By JIM HALL

Dick Rompasky, left, conservation resources assistant No. 2, and Roy Lockart, district fish biologist, recently conducted a fish census at the White Hall city reservoir. Both are State of Illinois Conservation representatives. The finny creature Rompasky is holding up for inspection is a 7½ lb. Largemouth Bass. Moments after the fish was weighed etc. Mr. Bass returned with a big splash to his watery home.

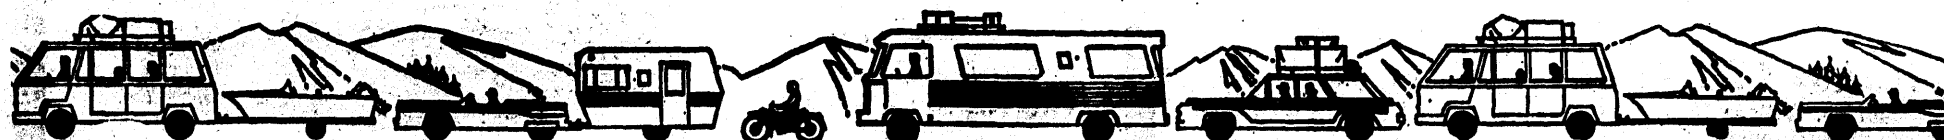

The White Hall city reservoir is located just East of the city. The road out to the reservoir is in good condition, and there is a hardened site for launching boats, just west of the water plant. The reservoir is open to the public and there is no charge for fishing. A park and playground area is located on the Northeast side of this nice reservoir. The lake is loaded with Bass and a perfect place to fish with the smaller Aluminum boats.

Children Really Enjoy Bluegill Fishing Take Them Out...

By JIM HALL

Ronnie Green, Tod Mills, Scott Mills, Tracy Timmons and Jeff Mills are shown with a nice stringer of Bluegills they caught. They were all fishing at Nichols Park, near their homes, in South Jacksonville. The boys fish with cane poles and bobbers. They always use worms for bait, and catch lots of Bluegills. If there are some boys who don't have a Dad to take them out, contact Jim Hall, at this newspaper. I'll try to arrange a Bluegill fishing trip FOR THE BOYS WITHOUT A FATHER.

Don't Litter

caught the largest Bass weighing 4 lb.-4 oz. and George Upchurch caught the biggest stringer with 10 lb.-5 oz. of fish.

I really enjoyed fishing with Mel Howard, he showed me stump beds, old ponds and places to fish that I could not have learned in 2 years of steady fishing that lake. I probably had more chances than any other fisherman to catch fish, but it was one of those days when nothing went right for me. If anyone wants to learn more about Bass fishing they should join the Bass Club, you learn a lot fishing with other fishermen.

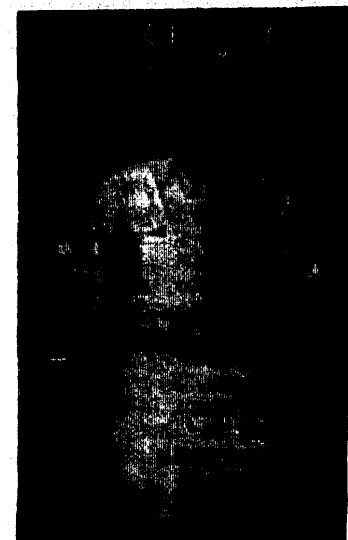

The Jacksonville Bass Club will meet this Monday night, June 12th at 7:30 p.m. at D and D Sports Center. Final plans for the Lake Stockton trip will be made Monday night. Bass have been hitting over there quite well the last few weeks.

Little Donny Smith—age 8—was all smiles with his 4 lb.-13½ oz. catfish caught in a local farm pond on a worm. George Keech caught a 4 lb.-7½ oz. catfish in the Illinois River on a nightcrawler. Darrel Willner must have caught the largest stringer of channel catfish, I've seen in a long time, he was fishing a strip mine with worms and liver for bait. Ronnie Green, Todd Mills, Scott Mills, Tracy Timmons and Jeff Mills didn't catch any lunkers, but they had a lot of fun at Nichols Park fishing for Blue Gill. Harry Grissom is at it again, he caught a 1 lb.-3¼ oz. Blue Gill in a local farm pond on a worm. He caught the largest Blue Gill of the year last year. Mrs. Joe Wallbaum caught a nice stringer of Blue Gill weighing 12 to 14 oz. on worms in a local farm pond. Ron Carter caught a 4 lb. Bass in a farm pond on a minnow, and then caught a 5 lb. 14 oz. Bass the next day. Bill Carter caught a 5 lb.-7 oz. Bass on a single spin in a local farm pond. Floyd Thrower caught a 3 lb.-9 oz. Bass on a shanon spinner in Lake Mauvaisterre. Joe Lee caught a 5 lb.-7½ oz. Bass on a tiny torpedo in a small lake. Bill Anderson caught a 3 lb.-15½ oz. Bass on a rapola. Karl Wagner caught a nice stringer of Bass on a black fury spinner in a local farm pond. Lawrence Holland Jr. and Sr. caught a large stringer of Bass at Lake Jacksonville. Bob Kehl caught 2 very nice Bass, the biggest 3 lb.-7 oz. on a black worm in a local farm pond. My son Ricky, caught a nice Bass at Lake Jacksonville on a white bomber.

The May contest winners were Mike Crouse $10 for the largest Bass, Jim Hall $5 for the second largest Bass. Bill Millburn $10 for the largest Crappie, Jack Colemay $5 for the second largest Crappie. Pete George $10 for the largest Bluegill, and E. G. Davis $5 for the second largest Bluegill.

Bring your fish in to D and D Sports Center for pictures and prizes.

Mrs. Joe Wallbaum caught this stringer of Bluegills in a local farm pond. They ran between 12 - 14 ounces.

Floyd Threover caught this 3 lb. 9 oz. Bass in Lake Mauvaisterre. He was casting the ole reliable Shannon Spinner.

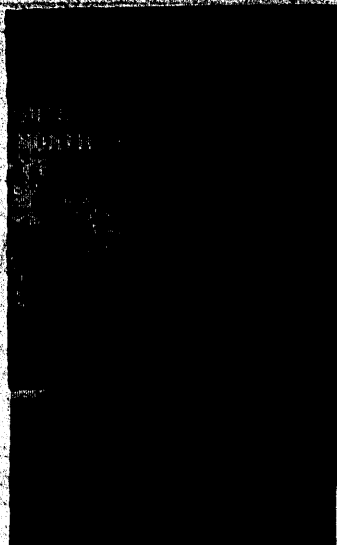

Smiling Bill Carter, a local Bass man) caught this 5 lb. 7 oz. Lunker on a single spin in a farm pond.

Lauritz Melchior Boosts Heldentenor

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Lauritz Melchior, 82, one of the most famous Wagnerian tenors of all time, in New York recently from his California home to hear some young tenors and baritones, likened a Wagnerian opera to a horse race.

"These long Wagnerian operas always have all the big arias for the tenor at the end. You have to know how to sing and you have to know, like the jockey who rides the horse, that you can not lead the field the whole time. You must know how to fall back from the other important horses in the race. But you must know how to win in the stretch. That is why you can't just sing, you have to learn how to sing these things."

The young men singing for Melchior were contestants for the Melchior Heldentenor Foundation prize, which is money to study for a year plus money to live on while studying. The singer who wins, and Melchior will hear more of them in other U.S. cities and in Europe, will train specifically to be a heldentenor, or heroic tenor, for Wagner operas.

Melchior himself started as a baritone, making his debut in 1913 in the Royal Opera House in his native Copenhagen. He made his debut as a heldentenor in 1918, in "Tannhauser," having taken a year off to study. Later he studied with Wagner's widow, Cosima, and son, Siegfried, at the Wagnerian opera house in Bayreuth. He made his debut there in 1924 in "Parsifal."

"Heldentenos are special voices and they develop later, in a man's 30s," Melchior says, "often after he has a family and can't take a year off to train properly."

"It is not a usual tenor voice; it comes mostly from high baritone voices. You have to have that solid bottom range to build on. If you do not have that, and you try to press your voice down, then you lose your high notes. A tenor can try it and can ruin himself. "There are very few heldentenos today," Melchior says. "That is why I have my foundation, to try to develop some good heroic voices."

Melchior, still erect, tall and imposing in appearance with a white mustache, beard and hair, also, as he always is remembered by those who've known him a long time, still is fond of a good time and a witicism. Asked where he lives, he replies, "Everywhere there is something to eat and drink." Then he says, "I live in California on top of a mountain in a house called the Viking. I have five and a half acres there, a garden and a swimming pool where I can throw the people I don't like."

Melchior is willing to talk about the past or today. He sang in Wagner operas with Kirsten Flagstad and Helen Traubel, but his favorite Siegfried and Elsa in "Lohengrin" was Lotte Lehmann and his favorite Brunnhilde and Isolde was Frida Leider. Melchior sang at the Metropolitan Opera for 24 seasons, singing more than 500 performances in Wagner operas. At the Met and other opera houses, he sang 971 Wagnerian performances.

Violent video TOKYO (UPI) — Shukan Asahi, one of Japan's largest weekly magazines, reports that a group of Tokyo housewives watched six television networks for four hours on one Saturday evening.

During the four hours, about 140 gangsters, samurai warriors, American Indians, cowboys and other people were killed on the screen. Some killings came so quickly that an accurate count was difficult, the magazine said.

Burton narrates HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Richard Burton narrates the 90-minute documentary, "A Wall in Jerusalem."

LUCY MAKES LEG CAST A SHOW BIZ PROP

When one of the world's greatest comedians happens to break a leg, she doesn't just sit back and figure that those are the breaks of show business—she makes the weighty leg cast a show business prop.

Accordingly, Lucille Ball, star of "Here's Lucy," seen Mondays (8-8:30 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network, turned the result of her recent accident into story ideas for next season.

Miss Ball broke her leg on what became a prolonged winter ski trip in Colorado. When filming began in March for next season's episodes, she turned her plaster cast into a series regular for a few weeks.

NBC TO AIR 13-PART HISTORY OF AMERICA

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Alistair Cooke, the well-known host of television's old "Omnibus" series, is engaged in a new video project—a 13-part history of America—that will surely be one of the major events on the home screen next season.

With the nation approaching its bicentennial in 1976, Cooke's series, "America," of which he is not only the creator but also the writer and on-camera host-narrator, will be presented on NBC-TV on alternating Tuesday nights starting Nov. 14, for an hour each outing.

The air time for the series, coproduced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and Time-Life Films, and sponsored by Xerox, will be 10 p.m. EDT, and the network says the programs will tell "the story of the United States from the earliest settlements in Indian territory to man landing on the moon."

Personal Property Taxes Put In Escrow By Court Action

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Judge Gordon Seator Friday afternoon allowed a motion filed by State's Attorney Richard Norris on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners which may have the effect of setting aside all personal property tax collections for possible refunding, depending on action by the United States Supreme Court.

Norris filed a lengthy motion before the court Friday afternoon which asked the court to order County Treasurer and Ex-officio Collector of Taxes Dean Colwell to place all personal property taxes collected for 1971 and payable in 1972 in a special escrow account and not pay anything from that fund to any taxing body.

Basis for the petition filed by Norris cited that the Illinois Supreme Court, July 9, 1971, ruled that Section 9-A of the constitution is unconstitutional in that it violated equal protection under the law provisions. That decision is currently under appeal and will be heard during the October 1972 session of the United States Supreme Court.

Norris argued, "due to the fact that taxes are now due and owing, there is some confusion as to how, or whether they should be paid, and if so in what form."

Norris contended that payment of personal taxes under protest was provided by law, however, he argued, it was clear "a number of taxpayers were not informed and will not pay taxes under protest." The effect of the petition is that all funds paid for tax bills on personal property taxes on individuals would be placed in a special escrow account until the validity of Section 9-A has been decided.

Judge Seator allowed the motion. County Treasurer Dean Colwell was not present in court.

Two-Fold Purpose

County Commissioner F. Byron Smith said he asked that the petition be filed for two reasons. "I'm sure many of the smaller taxpayers will not go to the trouble of filing a protest or hiring an attorney to prepare and file the protest unless a large tax is involved. This petition protects the small taxpayer so that he will receive the same treatment as everyone else. If the personal property tax is ruled unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court, the money collected will be in a special fund and repaid as prescribed by law," he said.

"The second reason is that the county won't have to spend any more tax funds than absolutely necessary to pay clerks to process the protest forms," he concluded.

Smith said he asked the state's attorney to file the petition in an attempt to protect other individual taxpayers who do not plan to pay personal property taxes under protest as currently required by statute.

JAA Attorney Pleaded

A check Friday afternoon with Gordon Adler, general counsel for the Illinois Agriculture Association in Bloomington, indicated that he would continue to urge farmers to file formal protests as prescribed by law.

"I am very pleased to learn of the action taken in Morgan county, but this has happened in several other counties of the state," Adler said he commended the county officials for taking the action but that because of the specific language in most of the other counties' petitions he would recommend filing of a formal protest. He based his decision on petitions and court orders he had examined from other counties. "Obviously I cannot issue an opinion on a motion filed an hour ago in Jacksonville — but if I could examine a copy of the petition and the order of the court to the treasurer, I would be happy to express an opinion," he said.

Adler serves as an advisor to Farm Bureau organizations throughout Illinois.

Local Action

Thomas Doubet, executive secretary for the Cass-Morgan Farm Bureau said late Friday that he was also happy to hear that the petition was filed but that he would urge all members of his organization to use the formal protest method.

Doubet said instructions and the actual forms had been mailed to all members. "Our position on the matter is that personal property taxes are unfair — if our members use the prescribed forms for payment of taxes under protest they are fully protected by the law and will be sure to receive a refund if the law is found unconstitutional."

Doubet said he would personally like to see farmers wait for a while before paying their personal property taxes. Doubet said the deadline for payment will still be July 15th and that a study of the petition filed would be undertaken during the next week or so.

Colonial Tea And Home Tour At DAR Sunday

Members of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, DAR, will open the historic Chapter House in Duncan Park, Jacksonville this Sunday afternoon, June 11th, for the annual Colonial Tea and Home Tour. Hours are 1 to 7 p.m. and donations of one dollar per person are being received.

Daley Gains Strength During Convention

By H. JOSEF HEBERT Associated Press Writer SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — At the urging of Mayor Richard J. Daley Illinois Democrats voted Friday to double the number of at-large delegates they will send to the party's national convention in Miami Beach.

The move essentially gave the Chicago mayor an additional vote at the national nominating convention and reduced the voting strength of delegates committed to Sen. Edmund Muskie by one.

Last week the 160 delegates elected in the March 21 primary picked 10 at-large delegates, including six loyal to Daley, three committed to Muskie and one supporting Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

But the Democrats at their state convention in the St. Nicholas Hotel voted with only scattered opposition to expand the at-large delegation to 20, giving each of them one-half vote. The additional at-large delegates consist of eight who are loyal to Daley and one each backing Muskie and McGovern.

"What they're doing is cutting our vote right in half," declared Larry Johnson, a Muskie delegate from Peoria. In only brief debate before the vote, Johnson and several other Muskie delegates promised to challenge the additional delegates before the party's credentials committee.

The 10 new delegates include a pair of labor leaders, two state legislators, several Chicago aldermen and three women. They were chosen as the delegate candidates who ranked 11th through 20th in the at-large selection last week.

Chicago Ald. Michael A. Bilandic, received only six votes last week, but is going to Miami Beach with one-half vote.

Earlier, Sen. Adlai Stevenson III urged the 62 Muskie delegates to continue to support the Maine senator and at a brief meeting 21 of them agreed to do so.

Stevenson told newsmen that the 21 delegates attending the meeting represented the feelings of the entire 62 committed to Muskie. He said he does not think Muskie will lose more than four or five delegates in Illinois and possibly gain twice as many.

He said he urged the delegates to support Muskie because "we're entitled to a choice," adding that this "not an effort to stop any one candidate."

Although the Muskie delegates opposed the expansion of the at-large delegation, Alderman Thomas Keane, Daley's floor leader in the City Council, said that the move is an effort to open the Democratic Party to more people.

"You have a choice of if you want to close the party or if you want to open it," Keane told the state convention delegates.

TWO PAY FINES ON CURFEW CASES

Two Meredosias youths appeared before Judge Gordon Seator Friday morning and entered separate pleas of guilty to charges of curfew violations. Steven Dawson, 17, and Roland D. Ransom, 16, both of Route 1, Meredosia pleaded guilty and paid fines of $5 and $15 court costs each.

The charges were filed by state police.

Daniel J. Walker, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, once again urged the Democrats to unite behind the ticket and defeat Republicans on all levels of government.

"To do this we need unity," Walker said. "Some Republicans and some newspapers are going to do their utmost to divide us."

"We may have had our disagreements," the once-maverick candidate continued, "and we may have had our internal contests, but by the time of the election let us prove we can work together as a Democratic Party."

A call for unity also came from Daley as he made his suggestion to increase the at-large delegates to 20 members in order "to open the party."

"Let's bring to the (national) convention a unified party. Let those who want to divide us go to another party," Daley declared.

All of the members of the state Democratic ticket said a few words to the state convention which packed into the hotel ballroom.

Rep. Roman Pucinski, seeking to oust U.S. Sen. Charles Percy in November, said that the Republicans, led by President Nixon, have alienated the young, failed to halt the rise of unemployment and the increase in prices.

Stevenson in his remarks said that the Nixon administration is marked by "exaggerated rhetoric" and little accomplishment. "The deeds and records of the Nixon administration have not kept pace with his public statements," Stevenson said.

Later Clyde A. Choate, the Democratic House minority leader from Anna, vowed to slash millions of dollars from Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's $7.3 billion budget for the fiscal year beginning next month.

"So far we've taken out $159 million and we'll cut some more," he said. "We're going to look at deficit spending (and) ... we're going to look at the lack of education opportunities as Mike Bakalis has talked about. Bakalis is the state superintendent of public instruction."

The new at-large delegates are: Walter Simmons, party chairman from Madison County; Marylou Hedlund, a Chicago alderwoman; William A. Lee, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Joe Germano, head of the steelworkers union in Chicago; Edith McNabb of Decatur; John J. Houlihan, a state representative from Park Forest; Robin Seidenberg, a Grayslake housewife; Jake Arvey, a national party committeeman; Daniel O'Brien, a state senator from Chicago; and Bilandic.

Mrs. McNabb supports McGovern while Mrs. Seidenberg backs Muskie. The rest are uncommitted and were supported by Daley.

The at-large delegates selected last week were, Stevenson, Bakalis, Choate, Robert Wallace, vice chairman of the Exchange National Bank in Chicago; Nina Shepherd, 38, a housewife from Winnetka; Alvin Fields Sr., a former mayor of East St. Louis; Michael Howlett, state auditor; Myrtle Dunn, a McGovern delegate from Robbins; Joseph Bertrand, city treasurer of Chicago; and James Roman, state Democratic chairman.

Alton Crisis Involves Justice Department

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A Justice Department representative huddled with Alton city officials and black leaders Friday in an effort to mediate differences which have led to four nights of violence in this Mississippi River town.

Milton Lewis of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service in St. Louis met with Mayor Paul Lenz, other Alton officials and about 20 blacks.

After the meeting, Lewis said he could not comment about any progress that might have been made at the meeting.

"I can only hope those using common sense will go back to those who aren't using common sense and tell them progress is being made," the mayor said after the meeting.

Lenz said Lewis told the blacks to use proper procedures in airing their grievances and to "keep it cool."

Betty Powell, head of the National Urban League office in Alton, said she felt progress was made at the meeting in the respect that "any meeting between two opposite forces is certainly progress."

"It is unfortunate that a series of events should have to occur before we can sit down and talk about our problems," she said. "There is room for about 100 per cent improvement in police community relations."

The meeting Friday followed four nights of incidents involving either shootings or firebombings, but no injuries. The incidents started Monday night after white police officers arrested a black youth on a curfew violation and a fight ensued at the city police station.

Blacks in Alton have demanded the suspension of Lt. Walter Conrad for alleged brutality to blacks. Conrad was on duty at the police department Monday night. Mayor Lenz rejected the demanded suspension.

Mrs. Powell said after the meeting Friday that blacks in Alton "need something tangible from the city administration. All we're getting now is people passing the buck."

"The mistreatment of black people by the police force is the number one issue right now. We do not feel the police are protecting us any longer," she said.

Another issue raised by the blacks is the small number of blacks employed in the police and fire departments. There are two blacks on the 40-man police force and none in the fire department.

"In the last 15 years there has not been a black policeman hired in Alton, and there has never been a black fireman in the city," Mrs. Powell said.
